SUMMER GIRLS FEAR HIGHWAYMEN

Terror-Stricken Because of the Hold-up of Two Young Women.

ROBBERS RODE BICYCLES.

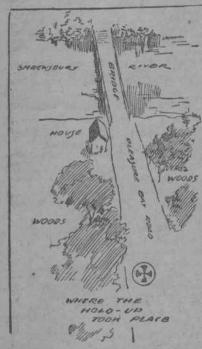

Dragged the Girls from a Light Rig, and Stole Money and Jewels.

LONG BRANCH ALL EXCITEMENT

Many Women of the Resort Drive Alone Through the Woodland Where the Hold-up Occurred, and They Have Been Frightened.

Not till two highwaymen awheel are caught will the pretty Summer girls of Long Branch, Pleasure Bay and Oceanport drive again with confidence through the charming stretch of woodland just south of Pleasure Bay.

Detectives, both amateur and professional, searched for the cycling robbers yesterday, but not even a trail was found. One of the highwaymen, a red-faced, middle-aged man with side whiskers, is supposed to be riding a white bleycle, and the other, a rather effeminate young fellow with light mustache, light hair and effeminate voice,

Indication, research properties of the Potent of the Poten

dany women of Long Brahen and the ac-ning Summer resorts drive through the sodiand road, while the men folks are in e city, and the Summer residents are xlous that the thieves may be caught in der that the fair drivers may be reas-

NEW YORK GIRL DROWNS, Stuyvesant Fish, of New York, president

Agnes Daly Went Beyond Her Depth in buggy was the young son of Mr. Fish, who the Waters of York Beach. Maine. G 266

Manchester, N. H., July 27 .- A special to the Manchester Union to-night from York Beach, Me., reports the drowning there this afternoon of Miss Agnes Daly, a handsome young woman from New York.
The girl was one of a party of twelve recently arrived from the metropolis.
Getting out beyond her depth, Miss Daly screamed loudly for help. She was accompanied in the water by her aunt and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Ranle and Miss Ella Ranle.

TO THIS WOMAN.

His Insurance and Died Poor.

SHE TRIED ROOM-RENTING, HASTENED TO HIS AID.

Had to Borrow of a Loan Associ- Instead of a Dying Husband She ation, with the Usual Result.

A most interesting example of "debtors" hard luck," or persecution—depending upon your point of view—cropped up yesterday in not wait to put on a hat or cloak, but the Second District Court, in the form of rushes off bare headed and bare armed, an action on a chattel mortgage, brought by the Mutual Loan Association, of No. 99 would.

Sisters Robbed by Bicycle Highwaymen Near Pleasure Bay. Lillian and Louise Blackmur were driving through Conover's woods, just south of Pleasure Bay, Monday afternoon, a little after 3 o'clock. A young man wheeled alongside and caught the horse's head; his companion, an older man, dragged Louise from the seat. Lillian, fainting, felt herself next lifted from their runabout. Louise also fainted. When they came to they found they had been robbed. The young women are stopping with a brother at his Summer home in Oceanport, N. J.

Trouble in Store for the Passengers of the Steamship Majestic.

Newport, R. I., July 27 .- Yesterday afternoon an exciting runaway took place on of the Illinois Central Railroad. In the buggy was the young son of Mr. Fish, who was simply holding the reins, while the horse was going at breakneck speed.

Mr. Charles Scriven and Mr. Joseph Murphy saw the horse coming, and seeing the boy in the vehicle took in the situation at a glance, and with much difficulty stopped the animal and held it while the young man got out. The buggy was badly broken and the mare seriously cut.

Had not these men acted as they did, young Fish would have been thrown out and probably seriously hurt. At any rate, those who saw the episode think he had a narrow escape.

Young Fish evidently looked at the matter in that light, and requested the men to call at his home to-day and see his mother. Accordingly, Mr. Scriven called at the Osgood Cottage to-day, and instead of being thanked for stopping the runaway, he says he was showered with reproaches by Mrs. Fish, who, he says, said he was very impudent to come to her. Scriven simply told her that her son requested him to come or he should not have bothered her. The affair is creating more or less talk about town to-night. A. Peterson, an excursionist from her that her son requested him to come or n, swam out and rescued Miss Ranie, hen went back for Miss Daly. Mrs. to night.

her that her son requested him to come or he should not have bothered her. The after the Crocker interest of $35,000,000 in the was not beyond the danger line.

pendant upon her own resources. Is helping the woman's She rented a large house at No. 255 West couragement and advice.

ing rooms. Lacking the necessary rapacity, she failed to make money. March 5, of this mustache, light hair and effeminate voice, has a wheel of black frame. Any one who catches these men will be rewarded with the thanks of two of the prettiest young women of Oceanport, who were on Monday afternoon held up while driving through Conover's Woods, robbed of $50, a pair of diamond earrings worth $200 and papers that were highly prized, if not of great commercial value.

The young women, Lillian and Louise Blackmur, yesterday recovered sufficiently to tell of their experience. They are gisters of Henry Blackmur, a real estate dealer, of No. 31 Broadway. Mr. Blackmur built a new Summer home at Oceanport this Spring, and is now living there nterest charges, as per chapter 326, laws of 1895..... 12.90

MADHOUSE FOR

Wealthy, Her Husband Lost Mrs. Bonk Tricked Into Court by a Tale of Her Husband's Peril.

Found a Sneering One, Say Witnesses.

A young wife is told that her husband

Pale, breathless, wild-eyed, this woma hurries into the place mentioned by the messenger. It is a police court. She looks around for her dying husband. She meets his eye as he sits tranquilly on a bench, sneering at her.

The reaction makes her hysterical. At her husband's behest she is seized and charged with insanity. Her dishevelled appearance is against her. The Magistrate commits her, asking no questions. She is taken away and locked up among idlots policemen appeared and given the man proand maniacs. As that does not cure her of her hysteria and terror, she is sent to patients Ward's Island, to be with such people for the rest of her days, unless some good influence Intervenes.

A good influence has intervened. Fannle Bonk's neighbors are fighting for her. They believe that she is a wronged, an outraged woman, the victim of an infalieve that she is perfectly sane. They tell the story that is outlined above—a story illustrating with startling vividness how easily the doors of lisane asylums swing open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince on "example of the story that is outlined above—a story illustrating with startling vividness how casily the doors of lisane asylums swing open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince on "example of the story that is outlined above—a story illustrating with startling vividness how casily the doors of lisane asylums swing open to admit patients. They tell a rehearing. The men hastened to Bellevus Hospital and arrived there by 9 o'clock, but Mrs. Bonk and already been senting with a rehearing. The men hastened to Bellevus Hospital and arrived there by 9 o'clock, but Mrs. Bonk had already been sent to Mangarate Rudnen and arrived there by 9 o'clock, but Mrs. Bonk had already been sent to be a story illustrating with startling vividness how casily the doors of lisane asylums swing open to admit patients. mous plot against her liberty. They becasily the doors of linsane asylums swing open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six of one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the six open to admit patients, and how hard it is for one to convince an "expert" that the last the solid is of one to convince an "expert" that the last open the form that lost of the tree is my wife?" the latter asked I want to get her back."

Where is my wife?" the latter asked I want to get her back."

Where is my wife?" the latter asked I want to get her back."

Where is my wife? the latter asked I want to get her back."

It was the Nichols Says She Saw Such a Patch on One of the Assassins' Clothes.

Assassins' Clothes.

Assassins' Clothes.

The third and, as it now appears, the only arrest of importance so far in the case of the order darkness—a broker and the supplies take hould I do without you? Your leving daughter.

The third and, as it now appears, the order that Mrs. Bonk is not the surface and the solution of "Scotty." as the Journal's news clatten.

The third and, as it now appears, the originated with the plant to get the latter asked I want to get her back."

Assassins' Clothes.

The third and, as it now appears, the originated with the solution.

The thi fever. Mrs. Rollins found herself dependant upon her own resources.

She rented a large house at No. 255 West Coursespend and the course and sister.

MADMAN IN THE WOODS.

dersized, typical country tough.

He is twenty-three years old, and white City

She rented a large house at No. 255 West Coursespend and the course a

Fourteenth street, furnished it elegantly and endeavored to make a living by rent- wrought up to a high pitch over her onspirators.

The nelghbors delegated Mrs. Dora Malrood, of No. 1756 Lexington avenue, a rained nurse, to visit Mrs. Bonk, whom the had known since childhood, "If Mrs.
lonk is insane, then I am!" was the verdict
the delivered on her return from the hos-

She had known since childhood. "If Mrs. Bonk is hasane, then I am!" was the vertice she delivered on her return from the hospital.

Armed with this opinion, J. O. Wickenden, of No. 8 East One Hundred and Ninth street, hastened to the Harlem Police Court and told his suspicions to Magistrate Kudlich. G. R. Khutow, a druggist. of No. 1754 Lexington avenue; H. Reigel, a grocer, next door; H. Leibman, the wine merchant, and a dozen other neighbors, also saw the Magistrate and so impressed him with their carnestness that he wrote Dr. Robertson a letter and warned him to be careful in his examination of Mrs. Bonk. Dr. Robertson a letter and warned him to be careful in his examination of Mrs. Bonk. Dr. Robertson replied that two examinations would be beld, so that no mistake would be possible. In the meantime Bonk had removed its furniture. He told in the neighborhood that he was going to store it, but it has since been learned that he moved 't to Brooklyn.

More was learned about the broad and an number of large bass were caught. Mrs. Astor caught that it to objecte that it to object the skill of an old fisherman, and aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptured a fine spectmen, weighing over the pounds. The other members of the aptu

Charles Bonai, a Suspect In the Nichols Murder Gase. Superintendent Birmingham, of the Bridgeport (Conn.) police, says Bonai is "Leonard Mason," leader of the band of desperadoes who committed crimes sim-Har to the Nichols murder in Dutchess County, N. Y., last Winter. Bonai's brotherin-law was arrested yesterday, the police believing he knows who killed the farmer.

but after some time he was removed to the Miller home, where he was placed under the care of Dr. Jechinsky and was watched over by attendants.

Railroaded to Ward's.

A crowd was at the do and as Bonk came out to the sidewalk he would undoubtedly have been attacked had not Beach.

Found in the Home of Charles Bonai, Suspect in the Nichols Case.

MADMAN IN THE WOODS.

Young Miller Wandered Away and Was Much Exhausted by Attacks of Mosquitoes.

Armand Miller, the twenty-year-old son of Professor Armand Miller, Sr., of Mount Vernon, escaped from his attendant Saturday afternoon and wandered into the neighboring woods at East Chester, where he became lost, and was found after two days and nights' exposure to the elements.

Young Miller's spine was injured about five years ago and his brain was seriously affected. He was taken to Bloomingdale, Weeks on His Guard. He admits that the Poughkeepsie police have asked him several times to look for

This is not much money, but it is a great

State, will make a total reward of $4,500. Medical Association, Buffalo, N. 7

DAUGHTER'S PLEA

Gleason Was Not Proof Against Her Bewitching Letter.

HE TOOK "SCOTTY" BACK.

The Valet Had Indulged in Seductive Beverages, and Tried to Run the Town.

"TAKE HIM BACK, FOR MY SAKE."

Little Miss Jessie Reminds Her Stern Father That "Scotty's" Devotion Once Saved His Life

July 24, 1897.

My Dear Papa. I learn that Scotty has been arrested by one of your policemen for being drunk, and that somebody was kind enough to pay his fine of $5; also you would not take him back. Now, papa, I think the reason he got drunk was that he felt so badly occause you would not give him another trial. You re-member when I left New York you promised me if I was a good girl and practised my music lessons well you would do anything I asked. I am doing just as I promised and will try to learn to sing three sougs by the time I return—some Irish songs, which I know you will like—if you will only take back poor Scotty and pay his fine to the man who paid it for him. You can take it out of the rent of my house if you don't want to use your own money. Paps, you remember how very good and faithful Scotty was when you were ill, and only for the good care he gave you, yr could not have lived.

Papa. Scotty took the very best of care of

ALGER'S SMOKELESS FOWDER

The Secretary of War Displayed a Lot of Samples to the Cabinet.

Washington, July 27.-Just before the assembling of the Cabinet to-day a messenger from the War Department was let into the room carrying a package of smoke-

This is not much money, but it is a great deal more than a man of Weeks's standing usually has. He was sullen all the way to the station, but broke down and cried as he reached there.

The police had strong bepes of "shaking him down" then, but he soon regained his nerve and refused to talk at all. He would admit only that Bonni was his brother-inlaw, and said at first that he had not seen it would not seen the consumption and death was only a matter of time. That was six years ago. I concluded to try your medicine. I continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the time of the continued until I had taken the contin beld, so that no mistake would be possible. In the meantime Book had removed his furniture. He told in the neighborhood that be was going to store it, but it has since been learned that he moved it to Brooklyn.

More and more was learned about the relations of the Books, and so certain were the neighbors that the young wife was the victim of a conspiracy that feeling ran high against the persons who were believed to have conspired against her. On Sunday this feeling was at fever heat, when Book and his mother-in-law called at the home of Mrs. Malgood for some belongings of Mrs. Malgood for some belonging the Mrs. Malgood for some belonging the Mrs. Astorics and Mrs. Rathborn, of this data flist that he had not seen him for several weeks. When told that his sister had also on